

Seyfarth Atlanta Partner Elected to Board of Meals On Wheels

ATLANTA (October 20, 2011) — Seyfarth Shaw LLP is pleased to announce that Atlanta partner C. Walker (Chip) Ingraham was elected to the Board of Trustees of the Meals On Wheels Research Foundation. A long-time supporter of Meals On Wheels Association of America (MOWAA), Ingraham has served as a volunteer delivering meals to senior citizens in his community for a local MOWAA Member program.

“We believe that his professional expertise in solving complex problems will be of great benefit to us. Beyond that, we know Chip to be a man whose heart is with us in our mission as well,” remarked Enid Borden, CEO of MOWAA.

Ingraham serves as Chair of Seyfarth Shaw’s Atlanta Litigation practice and Co-Chair of the firm’s national Construction practice. Specializing in construction law and complex commercial litigation, Ingraham has represented owners, contractors, design professionals and sureties in a variety of construction-related matters for more than 25 years.

Composed of and representing local, community-based Senior Nutrition Programs in all 50 states, as well as in the U.S. territories, the Meals On Wheels Association of America is the oldest and largest national organization dedicated to helping end senior hunger. MOWAA programs provide more than one million meals daily to those who need them at central locations, such as senior centers, as well as directly to the homes of seniors with limited mobility.
